ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

REMUNERATION AND OTHER BENEFITS THAT THE BANK MAY RECEIVE FROM THIRD PARTIES

You have already been informed that the Bank may receive commissions from third parties for services that it provides under agreements that are independent and autonomous of relations with its clients, notably regarding its marketing of financial instruments relating to the range of assets that the Bank selects for its clients and/or the management of underlying assets for these instruments. We invite you to familiarise yourself with or re-read our General Terms and Conditions concerning this point.

Please find below additional information regarding the type, scope and calculation basis of these commissions. We hereby remind you that this information is subject to change.

The Bank may also receive non-financial benefits, for example, financial analyses that it can use—along with other information—to determine its investment strategy and to supplement any investment advice provided.

We would like to specify that we choose the third parties with whom we work based on objective, quantitative and qualitative criteria. Commissions and benefits received do not play a part in this selection. This selection policy is in line with our policy on managing conflicts of interest, which can be found at www.ca-indosuez.com.
